Morocco and Logic in the time of COVID-19

This year it's very hard to resist thinking about logic and COVID to celebrate World Logic Day. Since the start of the pandemic, we have been trying to make sense of what is happening to us. The virus has turned our daily and professional lives upside down. The meaning is based on logic, abduction according to Peirce or on narration according to Greimas to name a few, but since then logic was hardly affected.

The purpose of this roundtable, designed for the celebration of the World Logic Day, is to bring together academics to reflect each in their specialty area, Philosophy, Literature and Semiotics, on the logic of COVID. The roundtable was held at the French Institute in presence of a limited number of people. The speakers and the titles of their talks are as follow:

Hassan Ibrahim, French Institute Fès,
General Presentation

Khalid Hadji, Sidi Mohamed Ben Abdellah University, Fès
Poetry and COVID-19, Waiting for the Miracle to Come

Azzelarab Lahkim-Bennani, Sidi Mohamed Benabdellah University,
The Covid and the Philosophy of Law, a Logic to be Reviewed

Mohamed Bernoussi, Moulay Ismail University and Moroccan Association of Semiotics,
The Semiotics of Covid or the Virus as a Marker of our Political, Scientific and Civic Limits
